Babysitter indicted in toddler's death

Indictment reveals Chapman was on probation at time of beating

By SARAH BENNETT
sbennett@thenewsenterprise.com

The Vine Grove babysitter accused of "striking" and "severely shaking" a 2-year-old child in her care has been indicted for murder by a Hardin County grand jury.

Ashley N. Chapman, 28, is accused of inflicting fatal abuse upon Layla M. Johnson at the babysitter's residence Cedar Oak Drive in Vine Grove. Chapman, a private sitter, has been in custody since her Jan. 26 arrest when she originally was charged with first-degree criminal abuse. The murder charge came four days later when the child succumbed to her injuries at Kosair Children's Hospital in Louisville.

The indictment returned by the March grand jury alleges that Chapman "wantonly" and with "extreme indifference" inflicted serious physical injuries to the child "creating a grave risk of death to said child, and further failed to seek medical attention for Layla Marie Johnson, who was in a state of extremis and dying, all of which caused the death."

According to an arrest warrant, the 2-year-old's injuries included "loss of consciousness, extensive bruising, bleeding in the brain and a bite mark."

Norman Chaffins, public affairs officer with Kentucky State Police Post 4 in Elizabethtown, said a conversation Jan. 25 between Layla's mother, Jessica Skaggs, and Chapman led the mother to believe her child needed to be picked up early.

The child's maternal grandmother made the trip to Chapman's residence to retrieve Layla. According to police, the grandmother sought medical attention for the child.

The grand jury also returned a new charge of second-degree persistent felony offender.

According to court records, Chapman was convicted in June 2011 of second-degree criminal possession of a forged instru-

Heartland Festival returning this year

Event moving back to late August; two-day format remains

By MARTY FINLEY
mfinley@thenewsenterprise.com

The Heartland Festival won't be taking a year off after all.

Elizabethtown officials announced plans Monday to resume the festival during the last week of August after a one-year experiment with a June event.

Mayor Tim Walker said the festival also will resume its normal two-day format, kicking off Friday night with events and activities running all day Saturday.

The festival is expected to feature new attractions as well as some of the staples of the past, such as hot air balloons.

"The community involvement continues to gain momentum," Walker said in a statement. "We plan to move forward with the event making minor changes in activities and hoping to plan bigger and better things for the 2013 event."

Walker said details regarding activities were not available. Officials, including Sarah Vaughn, the city's new event coordinator, still were hashing out

E'town third-grader to be honored for selflessness

Shawn Aberl II recognized for volunteerism in wake of his own challenges

By AMBER COULTER
acoulter@thenewsenterprise.com

An Elizabethtown third-grader is being honored by state officials for his volunteer work and optimistic attitude in the face of his own challenges.

Shawn Aberl II has been selected to receive the Kentucky Governor's Ambassador Award for Volunteer Service for his work with the Save-A-Limb Bike Ride in Maryland.

The ride helps support the efforts of Sinai Hospital in Baltimore, to prevent limbs from being amputated when they can be saved.

The hospital helped the Aberl family after Shawn was diagnosed with popliteal pterygium syndrome after birth. The condition typically results in death before birth and for Shawn has resulted in a cleft lip and a deformed leg that have taken more than 60 surgeries to give him the ability to run and jump.

Former Vine Grove coach, mayor to be buried today

Chet Redmon led 1952 Blue Devils to Sweet 16

By BEN SHEROAN
bsheroan@thenewsenterprise.com

Only weeks after the 60th anniversary of Vine Grove High School's lone trip to the pinnacle of Kentucky basketball, the team's coach and a community leader has died.

Chet Redmon, who later taught, coached and served as a principal in Hopkinsville and Bowling Green, died Friday at his home in Warren County. He was 90.

His funeral is at 10 a.m. CDT today at First Baptist Church in Bowling Green.

He's remembered around Vine Grove as a leader and person of good humor who knew when to be direct and when to allow kids to be kids.

He and his new bride, Anne, arrived in Vine Grove in 1948 right out of Western State Teachers College. He coached basketball and baseball while teaching English and physical education and served as an assistant principal.

"He was more than a teacher and coach. He was a mentor," said Donovan Smith of Vine Grove. "He helped guide a lot of young boys and made them aware of life and success."

Redmon coached the Vine Grove Blue Devils basketball team from 1948 to 1958 recording a record of 159 wins against 127 losses. The highlight was the 1952 team that won the region title and advanced to the State Tournament, the only time in the school's history.

Charlie Deaton, who played on four consecutive 20-win teams under Redmon, said the coach's demeanor made him a role model.

"As I look back on it, he was

Police looking for leads on rash of trash can, dumpster fires

One blaze resulted in thousands of dollars of property damage

By MARTY FINLEY

mfinley@thenewsenterprise.com

Elizabethtown police and fire officials are investigating a rash of trash can and dumpster fires downtown.

Rusty Todd, fire investigator for the Elizabethtown Fire Department, said five fires have been set since March 25 involving trash cans or dumpsters, including one Sunday morning that damaged Halls Supply and Tool Repair on South Main Street.

Todd said the fire started in a dumpster behind the business and spread to the back of the building, burning through a doorway to the interior wall.

"The fire was extinguished and confined to a small area of the interior, but the building suffered a loss of electrical power and some physical damage," Todd said.

The amount of damage, he added, is hard to gauge, but he estimated it between $20,000 and $30,000.

Another fire was large enough to discolor a building, he added. The other fires were started away from buildings and none have resulted in injuries, Todd said.

The fires are occurring late at night or early in the morning and are dangerous because of their propensity to grow larger and spread to buildings, Todd added.

Anyone with information regarding the fires is urged to call Elizabethtown Police Department at 765-4125, Hardin County Crimestoppers at 1-800-597-8123, or the Kentucky Arson Hotline at 1-800-27-ARSON.

State warns consumers about fake GED tests

Kentucky Press News Service

Kentucky Adult Education, a unit of the Council on Post-secondary Education, issued a consumer alert Monday regarding fraudulent websites claiming to offer high school and GED diplomas for a fee through the Internet.

"Kentuckians need to know there is one way to earn a GED credential and that is through a test administered onsite at an Official GED Testing Center," Reecie Stagnolia, vice president for Kentucky Adult Education, said in a news release from the state.

Only a state may issue the GED test credential. GED tests are not available online as claimed on these websites. The exam, which takes more than seven hours to complete, is administered only at Official GED Testing Centers.

Many of the same misleading websites also offer GED instruction for a fee. Kentucky Adult Education offers free instruction online through local adult education centers and offers classes in every Kentucky county. For a limited time, Kentuckians also can take advantage of free GED testing.

The GED test consists of a series of five tests that measure achievement in subject areas associated with a high school program of study. The GED Testing Service, provider of these tests, has strict policies regarding test administration.

Nearly 800,000 adults across the country take the GED test each year on their path to better jobs, training and education.

DAILY BRIEFING

FORT CAMPBELL

Fort Campbell unit returns for Easter

A small group of Fort Campbell soldiers who have been helping in the drawdown of troops from Iraq returned home in time for Easter.

The 31 soldiers from the 101st Human Resources Company, based at the Army installation on the Tennessee-Kentucky state line, arrived home Sunday after nine months in Kuwait.

The Leaf-Chronicle reported that 101st Sustainment Brigade commander Col. Michael P. Peterman said all the troops who left Iraq last year were touched by the small unit.

BEREA

Hiker who died fell more than 100 feet

A coroner says a woman who died while hiking at Indian Fort Mountain near Berea lost her balance near the edge of a cliff and fell more than 100 feet.

Madison County Coroner Jimmy Cornelison said Kimchi Son, 20, of Lexington fell between 125 and 140 feet while hiking in the Berea College Forest near Indian Fort Theater on Saturday with her boyfriend. Cornelison said autopsy results showed that she died of injuries consistent with a long fall. Her death has been ruled accidental.

Cornelison, who has worked for Madison County emergency services for 30 years, said injuries are common along the trail, but it was the first fatal fall that he could remember.

LEXINGTON

Woman faces prison for role in overdose death

Prosecutors say a Breathitt County woman's guilty plea marks the first prosecution by the U.S. Attorney's Office charging someone in the eastern half of Kentucky with causing a death by distributing prescription drugs.

Judy McIntosh faces at least 20 years in prison after pleading guilty last month to distributing Oxycodone that resulted in a death. She also pleaded guilty to a conspiracy charge.

McIntosh, 47, will be sentenced in July.

U.S. Attorney Kerry Harvey said prosecutors will use every tool at their disposal to punish those who illegally distribute prescription drugs.

Trayvon Martin death won't go to Fla. grand jury

The Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla. — A grand jury will not look into the Trayvon Martin case, a special prosecutor said Monday, leaving the decision of whether to charge the teen's shooter in her hands alone and eliminating the possibility of a first-degree murder charge.

That prosecutor, Angela Corey, said her decision had no bearing on whether she would file charges against George Zimmerman, the neighborhood watch volunteer who has said he shot the unarmed black teen in self-defense. Corey could still decide to charge him with a serious felony such as manslaughter, which can carry a lengthy prison sentence if he is convicted.

A grand jury had been set to meet today in Sanford, about 20 miles northeast of Orlando.

State Attorney Angela Corey listens March 9 to a victim's impact statement at the Duval County Courthouse in Jacksonville, Fla.

Corey has long had a reputation for not using grand juries if it wasn't necessary. In Florida, only first-degree murder cases require the use of grand juries.

Corey's decision means she doesn't have to rely on potentially unpredictable jurors, said David Hill, an Orlando criminal defense attorney.

"Let's give her the benefit of the doubt. Maybe she knows there isn't enough for first-degree murder but she wants to maintain control and charge him with something else," Hill said.

"What does she need a grand jury for? She cuts out the unpredictability of the grand jury. She goes where she feels she has more evidence."

Corey took over the case last month after the prosecutor who normally handles cases out of Sanford recused himself. That prosecutor, Norm Wolfinger, had originally called for the case to be presented before a grand jury.

"From the moment she was assigned, Ms. Corey noted she may not need a grand jury," said a statement from Corey's office.

Prosecutors sometimes use grand juries to avoid the political fallout from controversial cases. But Corey was elected by voters more than 100 miles away in the Jacksonville area, so political problems are less of an issue for Corey, Hill said.

Texting offers promise but also peril to campaigns

By BETH FOUHY
The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Text messaging is posing both new opportunities and dangers for America's political campaigns.

The most widely used form of mobile communication, it has become one of the most effective ways for campaigns to reach supporters, using 160-character messages to encourage last-minute donations or provide information such as where to vote. And strict federal rules prohibit such texts from going to anyone who does not "opt in" to receive them.

But some groups have found their way around that requirement, using email — rather than the SMS "short code" that telemarketers normally use — to send unsolicited, anonymous and often negative messages to cellphone lists they purchase through brokers.

That texting practice has angered voters, who are forced to pay if they don't have flat-rate messaging plans. And it's alarmed campaign strategists, who fear political texting will be weakened by the introduction of what amounts to spam texting.

"They've taken a tool and technology we used to help people get voter information and turned it into a very sophisticated way to do voter suppression tactics and annoy people with false and misleading information," said Scott Goodstein of Revolution Messaging, a Democratic-leaning mobile communications firm. "Worse yet, people are being charged to receive these messages."

Goodstein has filed a complaint about the practice with the Federal Communications Commission, whose Telephone Consumer Protection Act prohibits telemarketers from texting "to any telephone number ... or any service for which the called party is charged."

Unsolicited messages hit the presidential campaign this year, when texts targeting Republican Mitt Romney surfaced in Colorado, South Carolina and Michigan. Voters received texts urging them to call a number where they heard a recorded message criticizing the former Massachusetts governor.

Spam texts have popped up in congressional campaigns in states including Michigan, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Missouri and Minnesota. They've also appeared in several state legislative races.

President Barack Obama's 2008 campaign largely pioneered the use of political text messaging.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

SYRIAN TROOPS FIRE OVER BORDERS WITH LEBANON, TURKEY AS CEASE-FIRE SEEMS DOOMED TO FAIL. Syrian forces opened fire across two tense borders Monday, killing a TV journalist in Lebanon and wounding at least six people in a refugee camp in Turkey on the eve of a deadline for a cease-fire plan that seems all but certain to fail.

A witness at the Turkish camp said he saw two refugees killed, although that account could not be independently confirmed.

Across Syria, activists reported particularly heavy violence with more than 125 people killed in the past two days.

SCIENTISTS PREDICT PAY-OFF FROM $1 BILLION WORTH OF AUTISM RESEARCH; NEW DRUGS SEEN AS POSSIBLE. More than $1 billion has been spent over the past decade researching autism. In some ways, the search for its causes looks like a long-running fishing expedition, with a focus on everything from genetics to the age of the father, the weight of the mother, and how close a child lives to a freeway.

That perception may soon change. Some in the field say they are seeing the beginning of a wave of scientific reports that should strengthen some theories, jettison others and perhaps even herald new drugs.

The effort has been infused with new urgency by a recent federal report that found autism disorders are far more common than was previously understood, affecting 1 in 88 U.S. children.

IRAN'S OPENING BID FOR NUCLEAR TALKS: A CONCESSION THAT FALLS SHORT OF THE WEST'S DEMANDS. Iran is signaling a possible compromise offer heading into critical talks with world powers deeply suspicious of its nuclear program: offering to scale back uranium enrichment but not abandon the ability to make nuclear fuel.

The proposal — floated by the country's nuclear chief as part of the early parrying in various capitals before negotiations get under way Friday — suggested that sanctions-battered Iran is ready to bargain.

But this gambit, at least, appeared to fall short of Western demands that Iran hand over its most potent nuclear material and ease a standoff that has rattled nerves and spooked markets with seesaw oil prices and threats of Israeli military strikes.

LIKELY GOP NOMINEE ROMNEY FACES DAUNTING TASK LIST AS HE TRANSITIONS TO GENERAL ELECTION. Mitt Romney faces a daunting to-do list as he transitions into the role of likely Republican presidential nominee.

Among the tasks: Raise as much money as possible for the general election campaign against President Barack Obama. Hire more people and send them to the most critical states in the fall race. Hone his message to appeal to voters across the political spectrum.

And do it all quickly while fending off challenges from GOP rivals who refuse to quit the primary race.

JURORS QUESTIONED, SEATED IN CHICAGO TRIAL OF MAN ACCUSED OF KILLING JENNIFER HUDSON RELATIVES. A judge and attorneys began questioning dozens of potential jurors Monday at the Chicago trial of the man accused of killing singer and Oscar-winning actress Jennifer Hudson's mother, brother and nephew.

Selecting 12 jurors and six alternates able to set aside sympathy for the Hollywood star and assess William Balfour's guilt or innocence based only on evidence presented in court was expected to pose its challenges, but nine panelists already had been seated by Monday afternoon. Judge Charles Burns and attorneys had questioned 24 of the 150 prospective jurors one-by-one for four straight hours before taking their first break.

State police concerned about increase in motorcycle crashes

Kentucky Press News Service

FRANKFORT — Kentucky State Police report that 2012 already has shown a spike in motorcycle-related crashes with a 69 percent increase from 2011 for the same time period. KSP officials have decided to utilize its best asset for reaching the public — social media.

With more than 40,000 followers on Facebook, 2,900 followers on Twitter and an active YouTube, Flickr and blogger accounts, the agency plans to blast out motorcycle safety messaging via social media.

"With the unseasonably warm weather we are having, more bikes are out on the road earlier than what motorists are used to seeing," KSP spokesman Lt. David Jude said in a news release.

The agency plans a weeklong social media campaign that includes launching a new YouTube video about motorcycle safety, Facebook and Twitter updates with safety messaging and a blog post from KSP's commissioner.

Through April 4, there were 249 motorcycle-related crashes resulting in 167 injuries and 9 deaths. When compared to crashes in 2011 for the same time period that calculates into a 69 percent increase in crashes; 75 percent increase in injuries; and 44 percent increase in deaths.

Still no agreement on road budget

By ROGER ALFORD
The Associated Press

FRANKFORT — With time running short, lawmakers still haven't come to terms on a six-year, $10.6 billion proposal to fund road and bridge projects across Kentucky.

State Rep. Sannie Overly, D-Paris, said Monday that House and Senate lawmakers have been working to try to mesh competing Road Fund budget proposals.

"We're still pretty far apart," she said Monday. "Overall, the plan has to balance, and right now it's not balanced. ... so something has to give, something has to be cut someplace. And I don't know, as we sit here right now, where that will be."

Lawmakers are scheduled to reconvene Thursday for the final day of this year's legislative session. That means negotiators have only two more days to work out differences in the competing proposals offered by the Democratic-controlled House and the Republican-led Senate.

Overly, the leading negotiator for Democrats, said Monday lawmakers also haven't reached accord on $3.5 billion worth of road construction projects for the next two years.

The House and Senate have agreed on funding for the state's single largest project, $2.6 billion for two bridges across the Ohio River in Louisville. Yet to be decided are the hundreds of relatively small road and bridge projects that lawmakers are pushing for in their local communities.

Budgeting has been one of the more time-consuming chores this year for Kentucky lawmakers, who last month passed a $19 billion state government operating budget.

A slow economic rebound led to a lean state budget that forces sharp cuts on most government agencies, leaves employees without pay raises again, and erases a planned cost-of-living increase from the monthly pension checks of retirees.

The measure calls for 8.4 percent cuts to most government agencies and programs because of lingering financial woes brought on by the recession. Those cuts will account for nearly $300 million in savings.

Under the budget, more than 30,000 government workers will go without pay raises and some 200,000 retirees won't receive cost-of-living increases in their monthly pension checks.

The latest budget will be especially difficult for agencies that already have cut spending by more than 30 percent over the past four years.

Democratic Gov. Steve Beshear has line-item veto power, but he hasn't said whether there are provisions he intends to strike.

Lawmakers scraped up funding for some high priority projects, including $2.5 million to begin design work on a proposed renovation of Rupp Arena, home of the University of Kentucky basketball team.

Report: 150,000 languish in North Korean prison camps

By MATTHEW PENNINGTON
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — More than 150,000 North Koreans are incarcerated in a Soviet-style, hidden gulag despite the communist government’s denial it holds political prisoners, a human rights group reported Tuesday.

The U.S.-based Committee for Human Rights in North Korea said it based its report on interviews with 60 former prisoners and guards. It includes satellite images of what are described as prison labor camps and penitentiaries.

The report documents the alleged incarceration of entire families, including children and grandparents for the “political crimes” of other family members, and infanticide and forced abortions of female prisoners who illegally crossed into China and got pregnant by men there, and were then forcibly repatriated to North Korea.

The committee, a private, U.S.-based group, is holding a conference today in Washington, timed for Pyongyang’s celebrations to mark the centennial of the repressive nation’s founder.

The U.S. envoy on North Korean human rights, Robert King, is due to address the conference, which takes place as the international spotlight shines on the North over its plans to launch a long-range rocket and, according to South Korean intelligence, a third nuclear weapons test.

FESTIVAL: This year’s event includes marching bands

details Monday evening.

“The rest of it I can’t really say for sure,” he said.

Uncertainty about the festival’s fate this year had swirled for weeks. City government, in a partnership with the Elizabethtown Tourism & Convention Bureau, assumed leadership and responsibility for the 30-year-old celebration because the Hardin County Chamber of Commerce wanted to move away from management of community events to focus on small business and economic development.

Walker had said he wanted to make sure an effective festival could be planned and staged in the shortened time frame available. Walker said the city would gather input from festival volunteers and sponsors on what direction to go.

Neville Skaggs, who has directed the festival parade for a decade, said he prefers a return to the late August schedule. The timing, he said, will allow organizers to recruit participation from local high school bands.

Marching bands were unable to participate in last year’s festival because school was out and students had prior commitments. This year’s festival, however, will take place after the new school year begins and before competitive marching season ment, a Class D felony. The indictment reveals Chapman was on felony probation at the time of the child’s death.

Although Chapman is under a $500,000 cash bond in Hardin County, she’s currently being held in Daviess County Detention Center without bond. The jail’s online records indicate she’s being held as a state inmate for probation violations for a felony offense.

She is scheduled to appear April 24 for arraignment in Hardin Circuit Court.

According to police, Layla was the only child in Chapman’s care at the time. The babysitter told police she previously worked at a daycare facility though a police citation indicates she was unemployed when arrested.

Police have not revealed how Layla came under Chapman’s care. In January, Chaffins said there was a selection process involved but stated the relationship between Layla’s family and the babysitter was part of the ongoing investigation.

ramps up.

Last year’s festival was moved to June in hopes of avoiding the brutal heat and humidity August brings, but an early summer heat wave brought the same oppressive temperatures.

The city hired Vaughn late last month in the newly created events coordinator position to manage numerous events, such as the Heartland Festival, the summer concert and Cruisin’ the Heartland, which is scheduled for July 27-28.

The city also is working on a July 4 founders’ day celebration this year.

Vaughn in a statement said the city will have no time to waste in coordinating this year’s festival.

“We only have about four full months to plan for the Heartland Festival,” Vaughn said. “Therefore, we will be very busy in the next several weeks contacting vendors and getting the word out to patrons that the Heartland Festival will go on.”

Dr. Malito Announces Cure For Old Car Fever!

Local Car Dealer Helps Residents Who Are Sick of Their Old Cars With Secret BONUS Cure –

Trade In Your Old Car Early at Budget Car Sales Even If You Owe $3,000, $5,000 or $7,000 MORE THAN IT’S WORTH

If you are old enough to have a driver’s license, you may be the latest victim of this curse of spring. It’s not that much different from spring allergies or hay fever. This new affliction doesn’t discriminate against age, race or occupation. It’s called Old Car Fever - that bad feeling you get behind the wheel of your old car.

“Are you sick and tired of your old car or is that old car actually making you feel SICK or UNSAFE?”

If you answered yes, you, dear one, are suffering from a bad case of Old Car Fever and Dr. Malito has just the cure . . . A nicer, newer certified car that will clear up your head and make you feel like singing again.

This month, trade in your old car early at Budget Car Sales even if you owe $3,000, $5,000 or $7,000 more than it’s worth. So what’s standing between you and that new car you want so badly? Is the issue that old car you’re driving? The one that’s making you sick?

- Are you worried it’s not worth enough?
- Do you think you’re stuck with your old ride forever?
- Worried you are so upside down that you’ll be laughed right out of the dealership?

Quack Car Dealer Or Trade Payoff Prodigy?

At this point, you may be asking yourself if Dr. Malito is a bit of a quack? Or maybe he’s just cracked up? How’s he supposed to make any money and keep his business strong if he’s paying off cars that are $7,000 upside-down?

That’s a real good question and one that deserves an answer. Dr. Malito isn’t crazy. He’s got a fever too, a SPRING FEVER so bad that he will do just about anything to clean out his lot and make everything fresh again. Budget Car Sales always wants to help people drive nicer, newer cars and works hard to create ways to deliver value and solve problems for people every month. Springtime isn’t any different.

Dr. Malito knows his CURE FOR CAR FEVER gives Kentucky residents a new lease on life, clears their head and improves the lives of everyone around them. “I’m ready to clean out my lot and make room for new inventory.”

“Trade in your old car early at Budget Car Sales this month, even if you owe $3,000, $5000, or $7,000 MORE THAN IT’S WORTH! I’ll work hard to find a cure and get you driving a nicer, newer certified car just in time for that trip you want to take, even if that trip is just around the corner to grab an ice cream. Cruising in style is always fun, especially in spring when everything comes alive again.”

We Don’t SNEEZE at Bad Credit!

Is your personal issue a little more embarrassing? No, this isn’t about things growing out of places where the sun don’t shine. It’s the credit thing, the dark secret that really isn’t any big whoop at Budget Car Sales. Almost everybody has something they don’t want to talk about on their credit report.

We make it our personal mission to help people feel better by giving them the chance to rebuild their credit scores.

There Is A Limited Supply Of The Cure!

But don’t wait too long. In one of the few serious moments during our conversation, Malito told me that he was only going to be offering the CURE FOR CAR FEVER event until April 30th.

“If you snooze you lose,” Malito stated. So, make time today to cash in on the CURE FOR CAR FEVER.

To reserve a VIP appointment with a Budget Car Sales CAR FEVER specialist or see the doctor, please visit or call BUDGET CAR SALES of Muldraugh at 716 S. Dixie Hwy. (502) 942-3368 and Radcliff at 1535 S. Dixie Blvd. (270) 351-4777 right now.

ISSUE: Passage of House Bill 189

OUR VIEW: A model of cooperation for all to follow

An issue that surfaced during preliminary discussions about restructuring government in Hardin County has led to a revision of state law.

House Bill 189 clarifies a legal ambiguity in previous legislation allowing voters to consider unified government.

As revised, voters in existing cities and towns can reject the concept of governmental merger even if the county vote as a whole favors the concept.

This self-determination provision, which was developed to address concerns here in Hardin County, also was extended by legislators to apply to residents of unincorporated areas.

The community organization known as Hardin County United asked local leaders and residents last year to consider forming a panel to study and formulate a plan for merged government.

Voters would have final say over any final draft. Thanks to passage of this bill, we now know how those votes would be tallied. State Rep. Jimmie Lee and state Sen. Dennis Parrett deserve some of the credit for shepherding the issue through Frankfort.

Even if local officials never move any further toward the concept of governmental consolidation here, the changes make for good law. Protecting the voice of a local constituency from becoming caught in a larger neighbor's enthusiasm is the best practice.

After all, this entire issue revolves around the idea that the people form the government. The basic question regarding consolidated government is finding a system that makes the most sense for most of us.

But passage of HB 189 has a second value never anticipated when the idea surfaced.

It demonstrates the value of a cooperative spirit in the legislative process. Good things still can happen, even in a frequently dysfunctional body such as the General Assembly, when people listen and look for consensus.

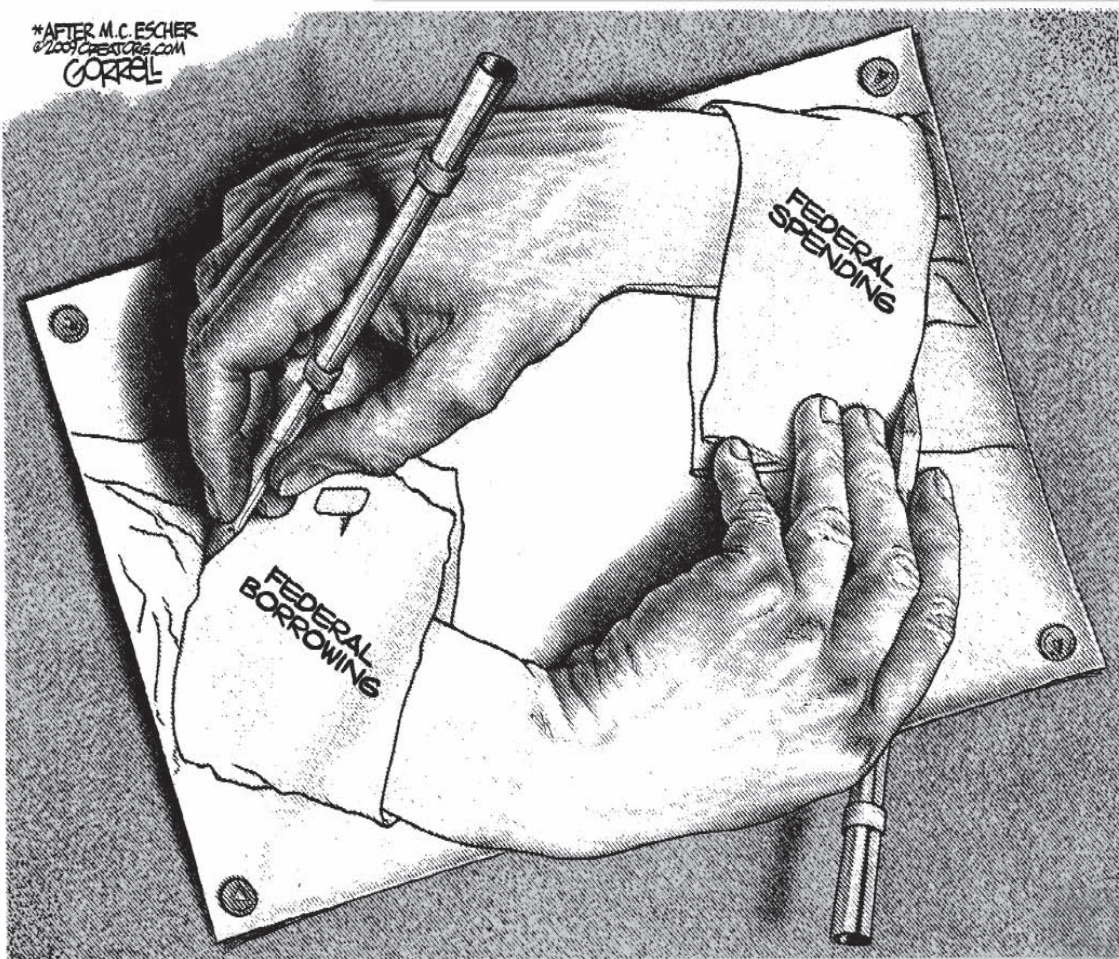

Authors of the bill worked with the Kentucky League of Cities and Kentucky Association of Counties to address unique concerns of both organizations. This consensus-building process smoothed the legislative channels by eliminating missteps and turning potential opponents into advocates for the legislation.

It was so well managed, in fact, the bill received no negative votes along the way. Unanimous passage is rare but HB 189 went through the Senate and the House (twice) with all yes votes.

It would be naive to expect any sort of unanimous voice when reorganizing local government resurfaces for discussion locally. But we all should be looking for the same level of reasonable discussion and the same cooperative nature.

When that kind of communication occurs in government, everyone wins.

Campaign success belongs to all

The United Way of Central Kentucky's 2011 campaign concluded at the end of February. Our annual fundraising drive, which began late last summer, yielded some truly fantastic results that would not have been possible without your support. With that said, on behalf of our board of directors and staff, as well as each individual and family impacted by United Way's work, thank you.

The 2011 campaign goal was $1,025,000, with a previous fund-raising record of $1,013,779 raised in 2007. By setting our goal higher than ever before, we took into consideration two key factors: 1) We understood many of our families, neighbors, coworkers, and friends continue to experience undue hardships. 2) As a part of a tremendously generous and caring community, we were confident that when our fellow residents learned of the unnecessary suffering, they would respond to the challenge.

As an interconnected and interdependent community, helping those in need increases the quality of life for all.

We are very pleased to share with you that because of your incredible generosity and support, our United Way reached new heights by raising $1,031,336; exceeding last year's total by more than $85,000.

More than 100 companies and organizations offered workplace giving campaigns to their employees with more than half showing increases in total donations. In addition, 24 new companies contributed to our campaign's success.

Through your financial support, time, talent, as well as your voice, you made the improbable possible. We truly are humbled by the generosity of every individual and corporate donor, with gifts ranging from $1 to $10,000. This success would not have been possible without many wonderful in-kind donations; including airtime from HCEC-TV, WQXE and Brandenburg Telecom, the amazing campaign coverage from The News-Enterprise and raffle items donated by so many local organizations. In the end, everyone's support added up, resulting in hope and an opportunity for a better tomorrow in our community and region.

Lastly, thank you for helping make this community one of the best places to live. Our non-profit organizations are the fabric of our existence and your support of United Way helps ensure the strength of our region moving forward. We hope our community will continue to engage in our work, which will create a better, stronger region for all of us to live in.

At least Ryan has a deficit-cutting plan

Now that the true battle for the presidency seems joined between Barack Obama and Mitt Romney, the focus has shifted on whom Romney might choose to join him on the Republican ticket. The newest favorite seems to be Rep. Paul Ryan of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Budget committee and architect of the controversial GOP answer to the continuing long-range national debt crisis.

It seems to me not a bad choice given the fact Ryan fits the conservative model needed for that wing of the party while at the same time bringing an economic expertise that Romney needs in a campaign where the pocketbook will be the crucial issue. Ryan also has the advantage of being young, handsome and not burdened with the stigma of over zealotness on social issues exhibited by Rick Santorum for instance – a posture that has turned off independents, moderates and women of both parties.

Last week in an address to the American Society of News Editors, Obama roundly criticized Ryan's latest plan to slash the federal deficit by trillions of dollars through radical changes in entitlements and contingency spending cuts. He linked Ryan and Romney, who called the highly controversial Ryan proposal "marvelous," and doused both in flammable rhetoric, clearly designed to take advantage of fears over Social Security and Medicare. Obama either regards Ryan as a liability for his opponent or is taking an early shot at a potential vice presidential candidate.

This reminded me of an incident last year when the chairman of the House Democratic Campaign Committee, Steve Israel, used some of the same language to criticize an earlier Ryan budget without offering a substitute. In a Christian Science Monitor breakfast session with reporters and columnists, I said that while Ryan's proposal might not be to his liking, it was at least a plan, a starting point. "Do you have one to counter or is it your intention just to scare the hell out of the old folks on Medicare?"

His response was less than cordial and utterly uninformative. He fumbled his way through a non-answer that left only one thing clear. Neither he nor his party at the time had an alternative. Their only interest to be trite was to use Ryan's efforts as a political football.

That seems to me to be the weakness in the Democratic campaign strategy, a lack of a viable alternative plan for getting the deficit spending under control. Ryan's radical positions, if you consider them that, should be met with a better argument than that they callously disregards the poor, the old and on and on without offering a solid different approach. This has been a Democratic Party campaign staple for generations. With a solid sub in hand, Democrats would be more credible in their claims of Republican intransigence when it comes to compromise.

The president is vulnerable on the economy. And while the abysmal statistics on jobs and other aspects had their roots in the prior administration, most of them worsened on his watch and are, therefore, his responsibility.

Meanwhile, Romney clearly the nominee, barring an utterly unforeseen circumstance, could use Ryan's budgetary expertise to good advantage. The downside, of course, is the Midwesterner's proposals are too disruptive for a good many Americans.

He could be just too much a liability. At least that's what some campaign analysts are bound to argue.

Nevertheless, he is a sincere, down-to-earth politician who offers innovation and connections to the middle class, something that Romney lacks. It always has appeared to me the former Massachusetts governor is a bit of a carbon copy of former president George H.W. Bush, whose failure to understand the common person was so extensive it cost him reelection. The elder Bush recently endorsed Romney.

There are a number of potential running mates out there who might serve Romney – a woman perhaps – in what is still considered an uphill effort. However, Ryan seems at the top of the list at the moment.

Start of 2012, March shatter U.S. heat records

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — It has been so warm in the United States this year, especially in March, that national records were not just broken, they were deep-fried.

Temperatures in the lower 48 states were 8.6 degrees above normal for March and 6 degrees higher than average for the first three months of the year, according to calculations by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. That far exceeds the old records.

The magnitude of how unusual the year has been in the U.S. has alarmed some meteorologists who have warned about global warming. One climate scientist said it is the weather equivalent of a baseball player on steroids, with old records obliterated.

“Everybody has this uneasy feeling. This is weird. This is not good,” said Jerry Meehl, a climate scientist who specializes in extreme weather at the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Colo. “It’s a guilty pleasure. You’re out enjoying this nice March weather, but you know it’s not a good thing.”

It’s not just March.

Meteorologists say an unusual confluence of several weather patterns, including La Nina, was the direct cause of the warm start to 2012. While individual events cannot be blamed on global warming, Crouch said this is like the extremes that are supposed to get more frequent because of man-made climate change. Greenhouse gases come from the burning of fossil fuels such as coal and oil.

It is important to note this unusual winter heat is mostly a North America phenomenon. Much of the rest of the Northern Hemisphere has been cold, said NOAA meteorologist Martin Hoerling.

able to motivate you without beating you down,” Deaton said. “He did it through encouragement.”

Russell “Pug” Hargan, who was a substitute on the Sweet 16 team 60 years ago, describes Redmon as “a great leader.”

Hargan said Redmon was firm in his direction but knew “when to turn his head sometimes” and allow the boys to have fun. “But when he said no, he meant no. He wasn’t wishy washy.”

Concentration on fundamentals and structured, disciplined practices were cited by Bill Darragh, who starred on the basketball court at Vine Grove High and later for the University of Louisville.

“He worked hard himself and insisted you did too,” Darragh said Monday.

Looking back on his days at Vine Grove and basketball in general during a 2009 interview, Redmon emphasized a personal value.

“From my standpoint, one thing hasn’t changed,” he said. “If you work hard, the rewards will come.”

Hargan also noted that both Chet and Anne Redmon were active in the community. While serving as coach, Redmon also served one term as mayor of Vine Grove.

He continued to be involved in the community in later career stops. His obituary lists leadership roles in the development and fund-raising for a new high school in Hopkinsville in 1963 and a similar campaign seven years later at Bowling Green High.

He served as principal at both schools and was active in the Kentucky Association of Secondary School Principals, including a one-year term as president.

He also served as president of Bowling Green’s Board of Ethics and worked on behalf of charities including the American Cancer Society, Gidcons International and the Kentucky Baptist Homes for Children.

Redmon was born June 2, 1921, in Louisville where he was enshrined in 2004 in the Male High School Hall of Fame. After graduating in 1939, he briefly worked for L&N Railroad before becoming a minor league pitcher in the St. Louis Cardinals organization. When World War II began, he enlisted in the Army Air Corps and spent most of his military service in India, according to his obituary.

Survivors include his wife, their four children and nine grandchildren.

HONOR: ‘I just want to get out there and help other kids’

Shawn’s family raised $3,360 for last fall’s ride and drew volunteers from multiple states to join the his volunteer team, Team Superhero.

“It’s just good to know that they’re my friends in volunteering,” he said.

Shawn and his family have helped raise money and volunteered to help with the ride

“I just want to get out there and help other kids and volunteer,” he said. “It makes me feel happy.”

There are multiple categories in which state residents can be honored by the governor’s office. The only category in which Shawn qualified was the ambassador award because his family volunteers outside the state.

The Aberl family plans to attend and awards ceremony in June at the Governor’s Mansion.

The family found out about Shawn’s selection two weeks ago and only recently was allowed to share the news.

His mother, Jennifer

Aberl, was told by a co-worker with a connection to the awards that she should make sure Shawn was nominated because few nominations measured up to Shawn’s story.

Jennifer Aberl put together her son’s nomination. She got a call months later from a representative of the board telling her Shawn had won.

“She said his nomination was the only one that really got to her,” she said.

Shawn had forgotten that he had been nominated by the time he learned he won. Now, he can’t wait to meet the governor.

“I felt excited,” he said. “I’ve never won before.”

He hopes winning the award attracts more attention to Save-A-Limb.

Shawn’s father, Shawn Aberl, said the boy is doing well. He is active in Boy Scouts and is in accelerated reading at New Highland Elementary School.

He said his family saw the shortcomings of some insurance companies when his son was born because of quality insurance available to him and his wife through their military careers.

“We’re very proud of him,” he said. “He has always been vocal about his condition and how to cope.”

Aberl family members already are making plans for this year’s fundraiser.

Shawn’s donation page, www.savealimbride.kintera.org/superhero, is expected to be ready later this month to accept donations for the upcoming event.

Can You Buy A New $1,800 Furnace For $458?

Yes, it's absolutely true, you can actually replace your old (and probably very inefficient) furnace, air conditioner, or heat pump as a package for at least $1,300 less than you would have to pay at any other time.

MY PROBLEM IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

Let me explain,

At the beginning of every year we purchase, for the summer, a load of air conditioners and heat pumps and have to guess how many we'll need to meet the demand. Of course we're never exactly right. So, we always have some inventory left over until the next summer's cooling season.

These are brand new models. And they are NOT seconds or "Blems" or "Builder" models. They are factory fresh PREMIUM air conditioners and heat pumps and have a full parts and labor warranty.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN GET A FURNACE FOR $458

If you buy one of these leftover Premium air conditioners or heat pumps at last year's prices and have it installed by June 1st (but only if one of the sizes I have in inventory will fit your house, of course), I am giving you a high efficiency furnace completely installed, for an unbelievable low price of only $458.

HERE'S HOW

Just call Allen's at 358-3333. We will come out and determine the availability of the proper size. As of right now, I have only 21 air conditioners and heat pumps left over in various sizes and efficiencies. When they are gone this remarkable offer ends. First come, first served!

We will show you the real world price of the air conditioner or heat pump that fits your home. Then we will show you the substantial savings now. And it will include all labor, installation materials, and a full parts and labor warranty on your new system. Nothing is left out.

THE CONCEPT IS SIMPLE

By letting you win big now, I will win at the end of the year. I'm betting that if I make you an offer that is "irresistable" (at least it should be if your furnace or air conditioner is over ten years old) I will accomplish three things:

1. Get rid of my leftover air conditioning inventory.
2. Help cover my rent, utilities, insurance and taxes in the slow months.
3. Pay my professional staff of 15 technicians to work instead of paying them to sit home.

If I can accomplish these three objectives, I will minimize my losses, and the rest of the year can be a winner.

NO OBLIGATION

Even after I completely explain the installation there is absolutely no obligation. If you decide you don't want to take advantage of this spectacular savings-that's OK. I will give you a surprise gift worth $50.00 because you are kind enough to read this ad and give me a chance to solve my problem. I want you to think well of Allen's Air Conditioning & Heating even if you don't buy.

YOU CAN BUY WITH NO CASH

You don't even have to pay me right away. I have set up terrific financing with competitive rates. Consider this, if you decide to make monthly investments instead of paying cash, the amount of your investment might be more than offset by the savings on your utility bills. It's like "having your cake and eating it too".

IRONCLAD GUARANTEE

I'm so confident that you will save at least 20% on your cooling and heating bills (I'm projecting more like 30% to 50%) that I will pay you Double the Difference for one year if you don't.

There is no way you can lose. Your lower utility bills will really make a big difference on your investment. And I will even double your savings if you save less than 20%. If these premium systems were not among the best on the market, I couldn't afford to make such a promise.

WHY THIS OFFER CAN'T LAST

You must act before May 31st!

Here's why.

1. I only have a limited number of matched systems left over. When all of the in-stock air conditioners and heat pumps are sold, that's it. First come, first served!
2. If I have any of the leftover systems on May 31st (although I doubt that I will) this offer still ends.

My business always starts improving in June and I can sell my leftover air conditioners and heat pumps this coming summer and still come out OK.

Give Allen's Air Conditioning & Heating a call now at 358-3333 and set an appointment for your no obligation survey. Thank you for reading this rather long ad. I hope you will profit greatly because of it.

Warmly,
David E. Allen

DEAR ABBY

Husband searches for way out of marriage

Dear Abby: I have been married for 19 years, but I cannot stay faithful to my wife. I've had a few affairs, visit "massage parlors" on a regular basis and feel my wife deserves better. I want to walk away from our marriage.

We have kids who will be affected, and it will hurt us financially, but I don't feel right staying in a marriage I can't be faithful to. I haven't told my wife about this, but I believe she knows because we haven't been intimate in months. We had discussed divorce several times in the past, but that was before the kids. Please give me some advice. — Living a Lie in the Mid-Atlantic

■ Dear Living A Lie: Feeling and behaving as you do, it would have been better for you to have divorced before you had children. However, now that you do have kids, it's time that you level with your wife.

As you stated, she probably has a good idea that something isn't right. She may prefer to remain married to you until your children are out of the house. Or she may feel that her chances of finding someone else are better if you separate now. You'll never know until you talk to her — and she deserves to know the truth.

TWO BEST MEN OK. Dear Abby: I am trying to decide who to have as best man at my wedding. I asked my best friend before I got engaged. After the engagement, I received a lot of pressure — and unwanted stress — from my mom to have my brother as best man. After arguing with her for a month straight, I finally gave in and asked my brother. We have never been close. There's no communication and no desire for it. We see each other only during the holidays and have had a forced relationship by Mom since we were teens.

My gut instinct tells me my best friend should be my best man. On the other hand, if I tell my brother he isn't the one anymore, I'm afraid it will be the final dagger in any type of relationship with him and his family. I need your advice on this matter. — Groom-To-Be in Minnesota

■ Dear Groom-To-Be: You're right that having asked your brother to be your best man, you should not rescind the invitation. However, I have good news. Your best friend can still be your best man. According to Emily Post, there can be two best men. She says:

"Though not so common, two chief attendants may be the right solution when you don't want to choose between siblings or close friends. The attendants can share the duties and the fun!"

'TWEEN 12 & 20

Don't cop out

Dr. Wallace: I can't risk my parents reading your email to me, so could you please put your answer in your column. It's very important to me because I'm 16 and going steady with a great guy. I'm almost positive that he will become my husband. We are not sexually active yet, but I don't know how long it will stay that way.

Please don't cop out by saying, "Don't have sex." Just tell me whether you think it would be a good idea for me to go on the pill now. — Nameless, Moline, Ill.

■ Nameless: Your question is too personal and too complex to answer with a simple yes or no. Sex without birth control can create big problems. An unwanted pregnancy often results in terminated education, family disapproval, unwise marriage and the terrible dilemma of whether or not to have an abortion.

But the pill is no cure-all. Even though it must be prescribed by a medical doctor, there can be hazards to your health. And there is also the fact that the pill is not always 100 percent foolproof.

This decision must be yours and yours alone. In order to make a wise decision about having premarital sex and using the pill, get all the information and professional guidance available to you from family members, teachers, doctors, clergy and public health agencies. Then think long and hard about all of the consequences, and make a wise decision.

And remember that many 16-year-old girls who are "almost positive" their current boyfriend will become their husband end up marrying someone else.

ROBERT WALLACE

I AGREE WITH MOM. Dr. Wallace: I decided to write to you for advice because my parents and I are having a disagreement. I have known Brent for about a year, and I always thought it would be great to go out with him. We had a class together last year, went to summer school together and are in band together this year, so I know him very well, and he is a super guy.

Well, he finally asked me out, and I was thrilled, but my dad does not want me to date until I'm 16, which won't be until August. My mom totally agrees with me that Brent is a nice guy. She has met and talked with him at music concerts, and she thinks it would be fine for me to go out with him.

I am a responsible teen, have a 4.0 GPA, am section leader in band and participate very actively in my church. Do you think I should be allowed to go out with Brent? — Nameless, Orlando, Fla.

■ Nameless: I have never favored a certain age for parents to allow their children to commence dating. I think maturity, dependability and trustworthiness are better guides. Some teens are fully capable of dating at 15, whereas others need a few extra years. It's difficult for parents to make a decision on when a child should be allowed to date, but in your case, I'd have to agree with your mom.

E'town MSA population growth rate tops in state

Outpaces other regions based on census data

By MARTY FINLEY

mfinley@thenewsenterprise.com

The superlatives keep piling up for the Elizabethtown Metropolitan Statistical Area.

The MSA, which includes Hardin and LaRue counties, outpaced all other Kentucky MSAs in percentage of population growth from April 2010 to July 2011, according to U.S. Census Bureau estimates.

According to the Census Bureau, the Elizabethtown MSA grew by about 2,029 residents during the decade, which translates to a growth rate of 1.7 percent.

The Lexington MSA was close behind with a 1.5 percent growth rate and the Clarksville-Hopkinsville MSA finished with a 1.4 percent growth rate. The Louisville MSA recorded a growth rate of 0.9 percent.

In tandem, Hardin County United said in a news release the Elizabethtown MSA finished 63rd out of 366 MSAs nationwide in percentage growth, improving its overall population ranking one spot to become the nation's 313th largest metro.

"This indicates the Elizabethtown MSA is on a roll," said Luke Schmidt, a consultant for HCU.

Schmidt said it is significant for the MSA to not only outperform all other Kentucky MSAs but also finish so highly on a national level. From a competitive standpoint, it is a positive sign, particularly in a sluggish economy, he added.

The Elizabethtown MSA has been standing out nationally in recent years, leading all 366 MSAs in personal income growth and GDP growth in 2010.

Hardin County Judge-Executive Harry Berry said previous rankings were indicative of the impact of the Base Realignment and Closure Initiative at Fort Knox while the population growth from April 2010 to July 2011 represents more internal growth that is not directly tied to BRAC.

"That's growth that represents the growth of our community," Berry said. "Impacted by BRAC but not BRAC people."

Berry said the numbers bode well for the future and will be an asset in attracting businesses and industry to the area. These rankings, Berry added, are watched and considered by companies and business owners. In turn, the success of the MSA creates momentum.

"Good news can be self-feeding and generate more good news," he said.

Schmidt said businesses and industry favor areas where growth is occurring rather than areas stagnating or losing population.

"Companies want to go where there's growth, where there's (energy) and where there's momentum," Schmidt said. "And there's no doubt the Elizabethtown MSA has momentum."

The challenge, Schmidt added, is maintaining the growth and momentum.

Solar panel manufacturer to bring jobs to Edmonson County

Kentucky Press News Service

PARK CITY — Gov. Steve Beshear Monday announced Taggart Solar LLC will locate a new manufacturing operation in Edmonson County, creating 30 new, full-time jobs. The company plans to lease a 10,000-square-foot building in the Edmonson County Industrial Park in Park City and will invest $440,000 as a result of the project.

Taggart Solar produces solar panels for industrial and residential use. The two-megawatt Edmonson County facility is expected to be operational by May and will assemble photovoltaic (sunlight into electricity) modules for distribution across the United States, Canada, as well as other countries.

"We're extremely excited to announce our plans to locate in Edmonson County," Dagny Johnson, president of Taggart Solar, said. "We have been very impressed with the community, the leadership of the elected officials and the assistance that everyone has provided to make this project happen. I'm confident that south central Kentucky is going to be a place of success for Taggart Solar."

The Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority preliminarily approved the company for tax incentives up to $300,000 through the Kentucky Business Investment program.

Managing bloat in cattle

In Kentucky, bloat is most common from mid-March through May, but many cases of bloat already have been reported this spring because of unseasonably warm weather. Legumes are the main cause but lush cereal grains such as wheat, oats, barley and rye can also be sources.

Although these forage types have many benefits, bloat can decrease animal performance and can cause death as many producers have again experienced this year.

White or ladino clover and alfalfa are the main species associated with bloat in ruminants. Frothy bloat, which can cause death an hour after grazing begins, is caused by the rapid formation of foam in the rumen. The foam does not allow fermentation gasses, which usually are belched out, to escape. As gas accumulates, pressure increases and the rumen stretches. This affects the animal's breathing and makes it difficult to inhale, which can lead to suffocation.

Legumes and cereal grains high in soluble protein and low in lignin can cause a slime to form which reduces the ability for fermentation gases to be expelled. Gaseous bloat, which is an accumulation of gas, is not associated with grazing but with feeding grain.

Knowing and watching for symptoms of bloat is vital to manage this disorder. Bloat may occur in as little as an hour after animals are turned out on pasture, but is more common after two or three days from turnout. When bloat occurs, the left region of the abdomen directly in front of the hocks visibly swells. Repetitive standing up and lying down, kicking at the belly, frequent defecation and urination, grunting, extension of neck and head, lethargy and difficulty breathing also are common symptoms. As bloat becomes more severe, rumen contractions stop and if tapped, rumen will make a drum like sound. In severe cases, death usually occurs 3 to 4 hours after symptoms begin.

Although risk of bloat cannot be eliminated, if managed correctly, livestock can graze stands with a significant proportion of legumes or small grains with little risk of bloat. Having grasses and legumes mixed in pastures rather than grazing pure legume stands greatly decreases the risk of bloat. Certain legume species have lower or no risk of causing bloat. When moisture is high, from rain or dew, there is a higher risk of bloat. Animals should not be turned out onto pastures with a high proportion of legumes until midday when morning dew has dried. Also, do not graze very immature white clover or alfalfa.

Turning out hungry animals onto possibly hazardous pastures increases bloat potential. Feeding hay before turning out also can be a useful management tool. Incidences of bloat increase when cattle are removed from pastures and then returned to them. Cattle should remain on pasture. Livestock always should have access to water and minerals and be watched closely for signs of bloat, especially after a change in weather.

Feed additives can effectively reduce the risk of bloat. Research has shown anti-foaming surfactants and ionophores can reduce bloat occurrence. Poloxalene is a surfactant that lowers surface tension of the foam and collapses it back into liquid form. This additive comes in block form, a granular form which can be mixed into supplemented feed, and in liquid form, which is used as a drench to quickly treat bloat. Ionophores work by preventing the growth of certain microbial species in the rumen. Monensin (Rumensin) is more effective than lasalocid (Bovatec) in preventing legume bloat and often is the recommended ionophore for bloat control. But poloxalene has been reported to be more effective than either of those ionophores, and is the only additive approved for bloat prevention.

Treatments for animals experiencing bloat involve methods to allow fermentation gas to escape. Contact your veterinarian if you are interested in learning these proper procedures to relieve bloat. Passing a stomach tube with a large diameter (remember to use a speculum) can release pressure in gaseous bloat conditions. If an animal is experiencing frothy bloat, this technique is not effective, but an anti-foaming agent can be given when the tube is in place. Various vegetable oils, mineral oil and a poloxalene drench concentrate can be used to break up foam and allow gas to escape. Contact your veterinarian for more information on dosages and treatments. An emergency rumenotomy, where a large hole is cut into the rumen, can be performed in life-threatening conditions.

There already have been significant reports of bloat this year. It's extremely important to properly manage forages and grazing to reduce risk on your farm. ### BRIEF CASE

Oil prices fall on economic concerns

Concerns about the economy pushed oil prices lower Monday.

West Texas Intermediate, the U.S. benchmark crude, gave up 85 cents to end at $102.46 per barrel. Brent crude, which is used to price oil imported by U.S. refineries, fell by 76 cents to finish at $122.67 per barrel.

The U.S. economy added just 120,000 jobs in March — half as much as each of the previous three months. The government reported the disappointing data Friday, but Monday was the first day oil markets could react. Stocks also fell.

Analysts said the slower pace of hiring could be a symptom of a weakening economy. It also hints at a slowdown in gasoline usage.

From wire reports.

MARKETWATCH MONDAY

DOW CLOSES BELOW 13,000 FOR FIRST TIME IN A MONTH.

Investors had a three-day weekend to brood over disappointing job growth in March. When they got back to work Monday and delivered their verdict, it wasn't good.

Stocks closed sharply lower, sending the Dow Jones industrial average and the Standard & Poor's 500 index to only their second four-day losing streak this year.

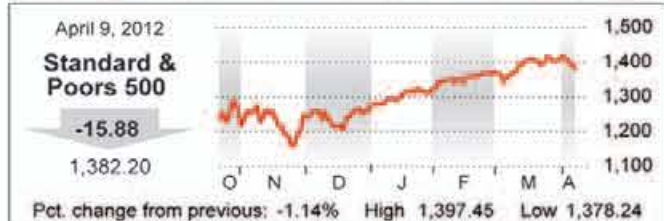

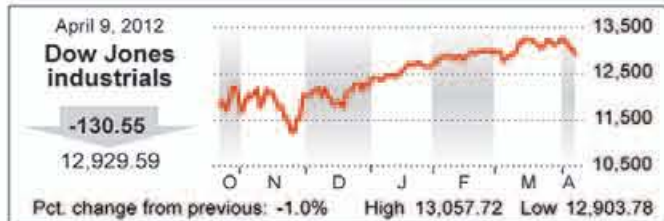

The Dow and S&P had four consecutive trading days of declines at the end of January, but the losses then were smaller. The Dow lost 124 points over that stretch. It has lost about 330 this time.

ASK FOOD

Bottled or tap?

Food Network Kitchens

Q: Which is better – bottled or tap water?

A: Don't be fooled into thinking bottled water is cleaner or more pure than good old tap water. If you have clean tap water, then save your money and go for it. Bottled water is good for times when you're in a pinch.

Having bottled water available when you're on the go is convenient and less messy (many reusable bottles leak), but recent studies conducted will make any bottle-loving person a skeptic.

According to a 2008 investigation conducted by the Environmental Working Group, contaminants were found in every tested brand of bottled water. Although tap water is typically tested annually, bottled water doesn't have to meet the same testing standards and the makers don't have to disclose results of any contaminant testing conducted.

Also, bottled water has a larger carbon footprint than tap water and doesn't contain any of the added nutrients found in tap water such as fluoride.

According to the Environmental Protection Agency, the U.S. has one of the safest sources of drinking water. In 1974, Congress passed the Safe Drinking Water Act to protect the public by regulating the water supply and protecting its sources.

Tap water usually contains a variety of healthy minerals including calcium and magnesium because it travels through rock formations. Fluoride is added to most sources of tap water because the mineral isn't found in many food sources. It's beneficial for healthy teeth and bones.

But tap water also can pick up pesticides that have been washed into streams and rivers. The government does test the water regularly to ensure safety.

FOOD TIPS

Pros and cons of frozen diet foods

Food Network Kitchens

While the allure of healthful prepared meals fresh out of a box may be tempting, are these frozen diet foods actually good for you?

PROS: Frozen diet meals such as Lean Cuisine, Weight Watchers and Healthy Choice offer a wide range of options – you can find everything from breakfast sandwiches to pizza to Chinese noodle dishes. Those in favor of these packaged meals are all about the ease of use.

TOP FIVE PROS

- Portion-controlled
- Ready in minutes
- A wide variety to choose from
- Easy to transport and store at work
- No cooking skills required

CONS: Others argue that the convenience will cost you.

TOP FIVE CONS

- Loaded with sodium – most brands have a at least 25 percent of the your daily recommendation
- Unappetizing odor and fake taste
- Lots of unrecognizable ingredients, little real food
- Pricey – $4 a box may not seem like a lot, but costs can pile up quickly
- Not a long-term solution to healthy eating: Do you want to rely on these meals forever?

Bottom Line: What's more important? Eating real whole foods, or taking the effort (and creativity) out of meal prep? If convenience trumps quality, you may want to reconsider how much you value your health.

A DASH OF CLASS

Martha Jean Owsley: One of Hardin County's Finest Cooks

NORA SWEAT

It is a delight today I honor a true Southern lady, Martha Jean Givan Owsley, known for years as Bob Owsley's wife.

While he was president of The Cecilian Bank and during his involvement with Western Kentucky University alumni, Martha Jean traveled with Bob and sat in on many meetings. But she has a wonderful life beyond that of her husband's.

Bob and Martha Jean raised two lovely daughters. Lou Ann works for Title Center of Kentucky and is married to Hardin County Jailer Danny Allen. They have given the Owsleys two grandchildren of which they are very proud. Their second daughter, Laura, lives in Georgetown and is director of annual giving at Georgetown College.

Lou Ann praised her mother's culinary skills.

"Ever since our Grandmother Givan died in 1983, Mom fixes Christmas dinner for our family and her sister's family that comes down from Louisville. We have fried pork tenderloin and brown gravy, banana pineapple fruit salad, fried apples, sweet potato casserole and much more. We have enjoyed Mom's home cooking all of our lives and wish that we could cook like she does," she said.

Lou Ann and Laura decided their Mom's homemade brownies, pound cake, and banana pineapple salad were the best of what she prepares for her family, even though everything she makes is delicious.

Being in Cecilia Homemakers with Martha Jean, I have gotten to know her much more and I can agree with the girls. She always has something wonderful at our potlucks. I must include her pretzel salad which is very different from the strawberry pretzel salad many of us know.

Congratulations Martha Jean, now maybe people will call Bob, "Martha Jean Owsley's husband, Bob."

KITCHEN ADVENTURES

Let lasagna fun roll

Lasagna is a fun and functional dish and there are delicious variations on classic recipes.

For example, chicken and cheese lasagna. I'm not a big fan of chicken in lasagna so I substituted ground beef and a few other elements to make it suit my personal taste. Yet another variation.

With cooking you often can adapt a recipe to make it what you want. With baking, this isn't always an option because measurements and ingredients used in baking are precise and if you change them too much your goodies might not bake well.

What's good about the lasagna dish is it's easy to make. Mix all filling ingredients together – meat, ricotta and other cheeses – then scoop some onto the cooked lasagna noodles and roll each one up like a jelly roll to make little individual lasagnas.

Making extra and freezing it is a great idea. You can use it for a future meal or share it with a friend. Frozen dishes such as this are perfect to take to families who have just had a new baby. In the beginning, people bring over food to help but eventually that stops and the new mom is still frazzled for time. So, instead of taking a dish they can eat immediately, take something they can keep in the freezer and pull out when needed.

The fun part of lasagna is you can make it with pretty much anything. While I like using beef, you can use chicken, spinach or any other vegetable and just plain cheese. You also can change cheeses or use a cheese sauce instead of a tomato-based sauce. It's basically whatever you want to use in-between layers – or rolls – of noodles and cheese.

Another beloved Italian dish is pasta with made alfredo sauce. Once you've made some from scratch, you won't like the kind from a jar anymore.

Tyler Florence's recipe on the Food Network website is a simple one. It's great with whole-wheat penne pasta. By using the whole-wheat pasta, you might con yourself into thinking the dish is healthier, even though the creamy cheese sauce is mostly heavy whipping cream and a stick of butter.

Either of these dishes with a salad and a nice slice of warm, tasty bread make an Italian meal that's not complicated.

CHICKEN AND CHEESE LASAGNA ROLLS

- 3 cups chopped cooked chicken (can substitute 1 pound ground beef)
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 cup Ricotta cheese
- 1/8 teaspoon white pepper
- 1/4 cup crumbled feta cheese (can substitute mozzarella)
- 8 lasagna noodles, cooked and drained
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 cups spaghetti sauce

In medium bowl, combine chicken, cheeses, milk and pepper. Spread 1/2 cup mixture on each lasagna noodle and roll jelly-roll fashion. In a 13 by 9-inch baking dish, spread 1 cup spaghetti sauce. Arrange lasagna rolls, seam-side down in sauce in baking dish. Top with remaining spaghetti sauce and cover with aluminum foil.

Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes or until hot. Serve, if desired, with additional Parmesan cheese.

www.ivillage.com

Cook's notes: You can use additional shredded Italian cheese to top lasagna rolls and add Italian seasoning to filling. In the ground beef mixture I added some spaghetti sauce so the meat mixture would not be dry. Baking uncovered for the last five minutes will brown cheese on top.

ALFREDO SAUCE

- 1 pint heavy cream
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter, softened
- 1 cup freshly grated Parmigiano-Reggiano
- Freshly cracked black pepper
- Chopped fresh flat-leaf parsley, for garnish

Heat heavy cream over low-medium heat in a deep sauté pan. Add butter and whisk gently to melt. Sprinkle in cheese and stir. Season with freshly cracked black pepper.

In a large stockpot, cook pasta in plenty of boiling salted water. Quickly drain the pasta and add it to the sauté pan, gently toss the noodles to coat in the sauce. Transfer pasta to a warm serving bowl. Top with more grated cheese and chopped parsley. Serve immediately.

ALL-AREA BASKETBALL 2012

Dressed For Success

JILL PICKETT/The News-Enterprise

Elizabethtown's Nic McDonald, North Hardin's Chanel Roberts, John Hardin's Brandon Price and LaRue County's Ivy Brown were recognized by The News-Enterprise and seven area coaches. Roberts was the Girls' Area Player of the Year and Price won the boys' top honor. McDonald was the boys' Area Sophomore of the Year and Brown the girls' top sophomore.

North's Roberts driven to succeed

By JOHN GROTH
jgroth@thenewsenterprise.com

Heart can carry an athlete a long way. But when coupled with drive, it puts a player above and beyond others.

North Hardin junior Chanel Roberts learned just how much those attributes could transform her basketball game this season.

The 5-foot-8 forward was a consistent force, taking it to opposing teams. She burnt them on the scoreboard, driving inside or sinking jumpshots for points. She snatched rebounds with a snarl.

She became the intimidator the Lady Trojans needed, especially during the final third of the season, turning from machine into monster. That kind of play left an impact on area coaches and The News-Enterprise sports staff, who voted her the Area Girls' Player of the Year.

"I had a new mindset — give it my best every game. In the past, I felt like I wasn't doing enough to help the team," Roberts said. "I worked on trying to play harder, did things outside of practice, do little drills and stuff. I worked on anything I felt like I needed to work on to get better. We all thought we could do something and make it pretty far. I wanted to improve myself so I could play at the next level."

John Hardin's Price enjoys big season

By NATHANIEL BRYAN

If there is one player on the John Hardin boys' basketball team who seems to embody the Bulldogs' mascot, it's guard Brandon Price.

At 5-foot-7 and 140 pounds, the junior isn't going to impose his will physically on many opposing players. He instead gets by with heart, practice, willpower and determination.

Those traits allowed Price to average 18.6 points and 2.6 rebounds per game as he led the Bulldogs (23-9) to 17th District and 5th Region tournament championships and an eventual appearance in the elite eight of the PNC/KHSAA Boys' Sweet Sixteen Basketball Tournament at Lexington's hallowed Rupp Arena.

"I knew I had to be a leader and not just a scorer. I had to do it all," Price said. "I had to help my teammates and get them motivated. Then I had to go out there and play offense and defense and never take a break."

Price's performance was rewarded with the Boys' Player of the Year on the annual News-Enterprise/Coaches' All-Area Basketball Team.

Price received six out of a possible 10 first-place votes (coaches can't vote for the own players) from the panel of the

Gemologist unbeaten, stays No. 2 Derby contender

By RICHARD ROSENBLATT
AP Sports Writer

Derby fever is springing up all over.

Owner Kendall Hansen has it now, saying he "can hardly work" as he counts down the week before his horse named Hansen runs in the Kentucky Derby on May 5.

First, Hansen has one more prep race, and that's the Blue Grass Stakes on Saturday at Keeneland, about a 90-minute drive from Louisville. The near-white colt will be facing about a dozen rivals on the synthetic Polytrack, including fellow Derby hopefuls Dullahan and Howe Great.

While Hansen remains No. 1 in The Associated Press' latest Run to the Roses' Top 10, Gemologist affirmed his No. 2 status ahead of No. 3 Union Rags with a hard-fought win in the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct on Saturday.

Out West, I'll Have Another joined the growing list of potential Derby favorites with a nose victory over top choice Creative Cause in the Santa Anita Derby. The result moved I'll Have Another up five spots to No. 4, and Creative Cause up one to No. 6, behind Florida Derby winner Take Charge Indy.

Gotham winner and 2-year-old champion Hansen put in a workout Saturday at the Churchill Downs trackside training center. The owner watched with frayed nerves.

"I can hardly work," said Dr. Hansen, who operates a pain management clinic in Crestview Hills. "It started two days ago when it was the 5th and it (the Derby) was exactly 30 days out. Something happened to my body. My nurses were telling me,

Cardinals hit three home runs in 7-1 rout of Reds

By JOE KAY
AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI – With Albert Pujols gone, the St. Louis Cardinals see themselves as less of a power-driven team defending their World Series championship. Could've fooled Homer Bailey.

Matt Holliday, David Freese and Yadier Molina homered off the Cincinnati Reds starter during the Cardinals' biggest first inning of the season, and Jake Westbrook found his control after a rough start, beating Cincinnati, 7-1 on Monday night.

The Cardinals improved to 4-1 with an offense that hasn't missed Pujols so far. They've piled up three homers in an inning twice already this season, with nine overall.

And they've done it without really trying.

"I don't see us as very much of a home run-hitting team," Freese said.

Manager Mike Matheny sees the homer spurt as more of a good start than the start of a trend.

"That's a tough pace to keep up, but you take 'em when you can get 'em," Matheny said. "Guys are having some good at-bats."

Only 20 pitches into the game, Bailey (0-1) had his hands on his hips and a 4-0 deficit that the Reds couldn't overcome. Molina broke the game open with a two-run double in the eighth inning.

Both starters had a rough time early on a windy, 64-degree evening. Matheny said the Cardinals' batting-practice pitchers had trouble getting a grip on the ball in the crisp conditions.

Gemologist ran his record to 5-0 with his neck win over Alpha in the Wood. The colt trained by Todd Pletcher swept into the lead around the far turn, looked to be a clear winner but needed all the extra effort he could muster to hold off Alpha.

I'll Have Another, trained by Doug O'Neill, withstood the bid by Creative Cause in a duel to the wire for a big win that will send him to the Derby as one of the horses to beat.

This could be a rewarding weekend for Hall of Fame trainer Bob Baffert, who expects to send his top two Derby hopefuls – Secret Circle and Bodemeister – in the $1 million Arkansas Derby and Mid-night Crooner in the $750,000 Blue Grass.

Baffert's Liaison, who ran sixth in the Santa Anita Derby, remains a possible Derby starter.

Brown named top sophomore

By JOHN GROTH
jgroth@thenewsenterprise.com

Maybe there's a reason why Ivy Brown was such a runaway winner for The News-Enterprise/Coaches Area Girls' Sophomore of the Year honor.

She had her hands involved in nearly every LaRue County play or possession.

Take a look for yourself. The 6-foot forward led LaRue County in almost every statistical category – recording team highs in scoring (19.4 points per game), rebounds (9.6), blocks (2.2), 3-point percentage (37.2) and free-throw percentage (70.1) and assists (2.7 per game).

And when in a tight ball-game, coach Travis Wootton positioned the Lady Hawks to get the ball in one spot – down low.

“But when the game is on the line, a lot of times you'll see her down there (on the block). She knows that that's where a lot of nights we're going to have a huge advantage with her down there on that block,” Wootton said. “She's just so versatile. She passes well, handles the ball well, has very good post moves. She can knock down the 3. There really isn't a lot she can't do.”

Brown, who totaled 42 points and received eight first-place votes, is the first LaRue County player to be named Sophomore of the Year since center Tamara Shelton received it in 2002 and she outdistanced Meade County's Raley Johnson (26 points, two first-place votes) for the honor. John Hardin's Zacchea Small (10 points, one first-place vote) finished third. Voting was done on a 5-3-1 points scale. Coaches could not vote for any of their own players.

Brown led the Lady Hawks

JILL PICKETT/The News-Enterprise

to a 17-11 record this season, although they finished in disappointing fashion – falling to Hart County, 59-53 in the 18th District Tournament semifinals.

She finished among the top 10 area regular-season leaders in scoring (first), steals (second), blocks (second), rebounding (third), assists (third), 3-point percentage (fifth) and free-throw percentage (eighth). She also became the school's all-time steals leader and has recorded more than 200 in two seasons, according to Wootton.

But one of the most valuable assets she developed this season was how to become a leader without the ball.

With one of LaRue County's two seniors, Nancy Howell, sidelined for most of the season with a knee injury, Wootton turned to Brown, along with freshman Alexis Brewer, for more off-the-court leadership. Brown had to be more assertive.

“She'd keep things together, getting her teammates involved on the court and she was being more vocal in terms of where people need to be, things like that,” Wootton said.

Brown remains focused on fine-tuning her game. She thinks those post moves can still use work and her vocal presence can become stronger.

“I don't like to be in the post. I'm learning how to play in the post,” Brown said. “My leadership skills could improve more. I can step up a little bit more. My free throws, too. Those are big.”

Wootton hopes that increased leadership role will help prepare her for when she's an upperclassman next season. But he hopes Brown's frustrations from her 1-of-9, seven-point district semifinal performance will fuel her, too.

“I think you'll see somebody really hungry next year and really ready to make up from that from last year,” he said.

ROBERTS: edges Boley and Brown for top player honors

Roberts finished with two first-place votes and 27 points, edging out Elizabethtown eighth-grade forward Erin Boley (25 points, three first-place votes) and LaRue County sophomore forward Ivy Brown (25 points, four first-place votes). Voting was done on a 5-3-1 points scale. Coaches could not vote for any of their own players.

Roberts led the Lady Trojans to a 22-11 finish. North Hardin reached the 5th Region Tournament quarterfinals, falling to eventual state tournament runner-up Marion County, 57-37. North Hardin made it to the 17th District Tournament championship game for the sixth straight year and recorded its first region tournament victory in four years.

Roberts is the third North Hardin player to receive the honor in the last six years, joining Hope Brown (2005-07) and Destiny Bramblett (2010).

The three share a similar trait – tenacity.

Roberts ranked second in the area in scoring with 16.7 points per game and rebounding (9.6 per game) during the regular season. She also ranked sixth in the area in field-goal percentage (189-of-383, 49.4) and 3-point percentage (21-of-63, 33.3), as she developed into the Lady Trojans' go-to player.

When sophomore Jenna Spencer suffered a torn ACL before the season started, Roberts had more than her usual load to shoulder. Knowing she'd be counted on more, she put more pressure on herself – admittedly, maybe a little too much at first. Foul trouble plagued her early in the season, but she curtailed that in the second half.

“She's such a good rebounder for her size. We had to play her kind of out of position. We played her at the five or the four. At the beginning of the year, I thought we'd play her at the three,” first-year North Hardin coach Chris Corder said. “She has a nose for the ball and finishes so well because she's so strong. It's a combination of scoring and rebounding.”

Elizabethtown coach Tim Mudd acknowledged Roberts could dominate a game and he admitted what troubled the Lady Panthers was blocking her out.

“What always bothered us the most and we tried to gameplan the most was doing our best to get her blocked out. Then, come game time, it looked like we never actually had talked about it. It has to do with (she's) such a great athlete. I always thought we were trying to do it, we just weren't athletic enough to get her boxed out.

“The biggest thing was her rebounding and trying to keep her off the boards,” he added. “She's so quick. Her first jump is good. She can land and go up so quick. It's that second, third opportunity that kills you with her. If she misses her first shot, she's probably going to get the second because she's so quick; she's going to going back up and get it.”

Considering she played most of the season with a sprained MCL suffered during soccer season, Corder acknowledged Roberts exceeded his expectations. But it was her play over the final third of the season that really impressed him.

That included a punishing game against district rival Central Hardin, when she recorded a double-double of 29 points and 13 rebounds in a 54-34 victory Jan. 26. She had a 24-point, 16-rebound performance in a 56-53 victory over Meade County on Feb. 14 and had a co-team high 18 points, including 11 in the final two quarters, in a come-from-behind region tournament win over Nelson County.

“She had some huge games down the stretch for us. I think she's starting to realize how talented she is. I think that's the big thing – her confidence as the season went along,” Corder said. “When we needed a basket, she wanted the ball. In the past, she may have deferred to somebody else. When you realize you're the best player on the team, that's then the team needs you. She did a great job of that for us down the stretch.”

Mudd wins top coach for 10th time

By CHUCK JONES
cjones@thenewsenterprise.com

One might expect this to be one of Elizabethtown coach Tim Mudd's more enjoyable seasons since he took over the Lady Panther program. But that wasn't the case.

Sure, Mudd was proud of what the Lady Panthers accomplished this season, but he didn't enjoy watching what his team had to go through with injuries. Especially senior Tara Gilpin and junior Alexis Powell, who both had season-ending injuries.

“It was not one of my more enjoyable years,” Mudd said. “It was awfully hard on me personally. To lose a player like Tara Gilpin for the year, who meant so much to our program as a player and a person, that was hard on me. She was truly the glue of our team. Alexis was our most athletic player. If you asked me who our two strongest kids were before the season, it would have been Tara and Alexis. It was a credit to the kids because they kept working hard through everything.”

Besides the season-ending injuries, the Lady Panthers had six other players miss time because of illness or injury. Senior guard Kaylyn Cecil, junior guard Anna Bowling, freshmen guards Livie Bowling and Darien Huff and eighth-grade forward Erin Boley all missed time. Senior forward Taylor Bridges missed nearly the entire year because of a back injury.

Only three players – senior Darian Ditto, sophomore Kinsey Mudd and freshman Reaunna Cleaver – played in every game this season. That's remarkable, especially when you consider Ditto had missed the two previous seasons because of ACL injuries.

Despite the injuries and illnesses, the Lady Panthers posted a 26-6 record, won the 17th District Tournament for a record seventh consecutive time and reached the 5th Region Tournament championship for a seventh straight season, falling to Marion County, 56-39.

Mudd said it was remarkable what his team did after losing three starters from the previous season, considering the injuries and relying on a handful of young but talented players.

“It was a dogfight night in and night out,” Mudd said. “As a coach, I've never been scared of change. Even if you have every player back from the previous year, it's going to be different. I never felt like we got into a routine as far as player rotation and players' roles. Usually by the middle of January, I'm very comfortable. That didn't happen because it changed from game to game. It was a different type of year.”

It was different but the success was the same. That's why Mudd was selected the Area Coach of the Year by the seven area coaches and the four-member News-Enterprise sports staff. Voting was based on a 5-3-1 scale with first-place votes worth five points.

Mudd won for the fifth time in the last six years and the 10th time is his career, which ties him with the legendary Terry Buckles for the most in girls' history. North Hardin boys' coach Ron Bevars has won 12 times.

“It means a great deal to me coming from my peers,” Mudd said. “The longer I've been in it, the more it means to me, honestly. We have great coaches in this area. I'm very proud of my team this year with everything we went through. Basketball coaching has never been a job; it's been my life. I know there's going to be a time to pack in, but I really enjoy it.

“I've been blessed with great assistants,” he added. “Donnie (Swiney) has been a godsend to me. Jimmy Knight has been very good with all he does. You're only as good as the people under you. And I never could do it without my wife (Lisa) who has been so supportive.”

Mudd garnered seven first-place votes and finished with 37 points. John Hardin's Bryan Todd, who received four first-place votes, and North Hardin's Chris Corder tied for second with 24 points.

McDonald earns sophomore award

By NATHANIEL BRYAN
nbryan@thenewsenterprise.com

Longtime Elizabethtown Panthers coach James Haire likes having veterans on the floor. However, that philosophy was drastically swayed in the 2010-11 season with the emergence of freshman guards Nic McDonald and Bryce Byrd.

The young duo took their lumps, but they matured enough that as sophomores in 2011-12, they helped lead the Panthers to the 17th District's regular-season championship.

Playing alongside Byrd and fellow sophomores Dominique Harding and Ja'Von Cotton and against other area sophomore stars such as John Hardin's Keon Williams, it became clear McDonald was special in his own right.

In one of the deepest classes in Sophomore of the Year history, McDonald was the winner on the annual News-Enterprise/Coaches' All-Area Basketball Team.

"It's an honor because there are more people than me who are well-deserving of it, too," said McDonald, who averaged 10.9 points and 2.7 rebounds per game for the Panthers (16-12) while shooting 45.4 percent from the field, 37.7 percent from the 3-point line and 81.7 percent from the foul line. "I'm grateful to get this award. ... I thought other people played well, too, and this could have gone down to the wire, really."

It almost did.

McDonald received six out of a possible 10 first-place votes (coaches can't vote for the own players) from the panel of the seven coaches and the four members of The News-Enterprise sports department. He earned 39 out of a maximum 50 points as first place was worth five points, second place was worth three and third place was worth one. Williams was second with 34 points and the other five first-place votes and Byrd was third with 16 points.

McDonald also earned a spot on the All-Area Team's second team, while Byrd and Williams as well as fellow sophomores Kody Key of LaRue County and Fort Knox's duo of Michael Powell and Rashaud Orange were all honorable mentions.

"I think Nic is a very good teammate and he understands he is among a group of very talented sophomores, so he's very appreciative that he won," Haire said.

McDonald came up big for the Panthers several times this season. He made a coast-to-coast jumper to beat Covington Holmes at the buzzer in Central Hardin's Christmas tournament. He buried 10-of-11 free throws and scored 24 points as Elizabethtown edged Daviess County. He also scored 16 points to hand John Hardin its only loss away from home to a region foe.

Boys' Area Player of the Year Brandon Price, a John Hardin junior guard, said he respects McDonald's game.

"He's tough," Price said. "If you back off of him, he'll make the shot and if you get up on him, he'll go around you. So that made it tough, but he brought the best out of me."

John Hardin coach Mark Wells said he sees similarities in both award winners.

"I think Nic has a well-rounded game because he has the ability to penetrate and drive, but you have to respect his jump shot as well all the way out to the 3-point line, so it was a difficult match-up for us this year trying to defend Nic and Byrd and the other players they had this year," Wells said. "But as far as Nic goes, people talk about Brandon having a high basketball IQ. And I see a lot of that out of Nic, too. He seems to do things well offensively and defensively. ... And he's definitely deadly from the free throw line."

E'town's Haire named boys' top coach

By CHUCK JONES
cjones@thenewsenterprise.com

What was supposed to be a rebuilding season turned into another typical season for the Elizabethtown Panthers under Coach James Haire.

The Panthers only had three seniors – two of whom started – on their roster. They relied on a group of youngsters – four sophomores and one freshman – to produce like veterans this season.

And they did, for the most part. Haire guided the Panthers to a 16-12 record and the 17th District's No. 1 seed for the post-season tournament. Elizabethtown fell in the district tournament semifinals to North Hardin, 61-58.

"It was a challenging year," Haire said. "Patience is not one of my best virtues. To be as inexperienced and as young as they were, they really responded. We had freshmen and sophomores that had to carry the load. They played for the eighth-grade team or the freshmen team last year."

"It was a unique experience," he added. "I watched them grow up right before my eyes."

Haire credited his seniors – Jansen Flood, Todd Lucas and Alec Thompson – for the Panthers having such a good season despite the youthful roster.

"Their leadership made all the difference," Haire said. "The leadership they provided was invaluable to this team."

But the seniors aren't the only ones who deserve credit for Elizabethtown's success. Haire and his coaching staff – assistants Alex Todd and David Johnson – molded this team into one of the 5th Region's top teams once again.

For his efforts, Haire was named the Area Coach of the Year by the seven area coaches and the four-member News-Enterprise sports for the seventh time in the last 16 years. Voting was based on a 5-3-1 scale with first-place votes worth five points.

Haire tallied 34 points and received four first-place votes to edge John Hardin's Mark Wells, who garnered three first-place votes and finished with 31 points. LaRue County's Paul Childress, who had three first-place votes, was third with 22 points.

"It's always nice to be recognized," said Haire, who has spent 30 years at Elizabethtown, including the last 17 as the head coach. "I've never been one that was into personal achievements, but it is very humbling. I've always said the coaches we have in this district, in the area and in the region are the best anywhere, because everyone does such a good job maximizing their talent."

"I've congratulated Coach Wells for the job he did at John Hardin," he added. "I thought Coach Childress maximized his talent this year. Look at what he (Ron Bevars) did at North Hardin this year with the storm he faced and he kept that team together. (Central Hardin coach) J.C. (Wright) did a good job. We have great coaches around here, so it is very humbling."

Haire said the continuity on the staff – Todd and Johnson have been with him for 13 years – has been a factor in the team's success as well as having ex-coaches to lean on when needed.

"Our personalities are different," Haire said. "We all bring something different to the table. I wish every coach could have a mentor like Coach (Ray) Vencill. It's not all about Xs and Os. I talk to him about a lot of stuff. I talk to (Elizabethtown athletic director and former assistant coach) Doug Barnes. It's not just me. There's a lot of people who share in this award."

seven coaches and the four members of The News-Enterprise sports department. He earned 42 out of a maximum 50 points as first place was worth five points, second place was worth three and third place was worth one.

North Hardin senior post Adam Hendrix was second with 24 points and four first-place votes, while LaRue County junior point guard Kelton "Putt Putt" Ford was third with 17 points and the other first-place vote.

"It's not that I kind of figured it, but I put in a lot of hard work throughout the off-season and throughout the season," said Price, the 2011 Sophomore of the Year.

Price is only the second Bulldog to earn Player of the Year, joining 2005 honoree Maze Stallworth, who went on to star at Morehead State University and earn a try-out with the NBA's developmental league.

John Hardin coach Mark Wells said Price's worth to the program goes far beyond his gaudy statistics on the hardwood, even though Price shot 47.6 percent from the field, 35.8 percent from the 3-point line and 66.3 percent from the foul line while entering the postseason averaging an area-best 6.5 assists per game.

"I think if there's one thing I want people to know – beside what they see on the basketball court – is how good a kid he is off the court," Wells said. "He's a good role model for our younger kids. He's a good leader. Kids love him at our basketball camp and he does a good job with our little kids' camp. He's just an all-around great kid."

A kid who has an all-around great game to go with it, at least according to one area coach.

"Brandon is really unique," said veteran Elizabethtown coach James Haire. "I don't know if they can lose as long he doesn't play bad. Brandon gets the ball to the right people, he can score, he hits free throws and he doesn't turn it over much. That's a lethal combination for a point guard."

Elizabethtown sophomore guard Nic McDonald said while he enjoyed competing against Price, he admitted Price wasn't an easy match-up.

"He's one word: quick," McDonald said. "He can shoot and he can go by you. He's a playmaker, basically, but he makes those plays all over the floor."

Price always seemed to be able to make big-time plays. He buried a buzzer beater to knock off visiting Jeffersontown, matched former University of Kentucky and Marion County star guard Anthony Epps' region tournament final record of 37 points and he had 18 points, six rebounds, six assists and two steals in his debut at State.

"I love games like that and that's what I live for," Price said. "The motto that I kind of go by is it's not the size of the dog, but it's the size of the fight in the dog."

A bus ride to the past

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Dear Readers: Cleaning out files, I ran across this email from 2008 that is a charming story about my mother, the original Heloise (1919-1977). Please enjoy.

■ Dear Heloise: In 1969, I was a nursing student in New York City. I was on a crosstown bus one day, and a well-dressed "older woman" (i.e., my mother's age) got on the bus. She did not realize that exact change was required.

The bus driver was not very pleasant about it. I paid her fare. She sat next to me, and we talked while we rode the bus. I had no idea who she was.

She asked my name and where I went to school. Later that week, an autographed copy of her latest book was delivered to my dorm.

Sadly, my own mother, who was delighted to see the book, lost this precious keepsake somewhere between retiring in New Jersey and relocating to Texas.

I'm so tickled to see that you've carried on your mother's legacy. You and your mother have been a godsend to so many hapless housewives, like me. Thank you so much for all you do.

■ Cathy, this just made me smile. I can see her — she was probably wearing a suit, a nylon-net hat she made, and carrying her monogrammed (in gold) briefcase

P.S.: Visit my website, www.Heloise.com, to see a photo of my mother.

CLEANING THE KEYBOARD.

Dear Heloise: My keyboard came as a "hand-me-down" and contained lots of toast crumbs, dust bunnies and other stuff. I have a little brush that came with my sewing machine, with nylon bristles long and soft enough to give my keyboard a frequent and safe housecleaning. — Becky in Texarkana, Texas

■ Becky, great hint. Here are some other hints to use:

■ Turn the keyboard over and shake gently over a trash can to loosen debris.

■ Compressed air works well to clean the keyboard.

■ Use the dusting attachment on your vacuum to suck up crumbs.

■ Avoid spraying cleaners on the keyboard. Doing so could cause damage.

EASY POUR.

Dear Heloise: The windshield-washer reservoir in my wife's car has a fairly narrow opening. Pouring from a gallon jug usually resulted in overflow onto the floor of the garage, and using a funnel meant that it was difficult to see when the reservoir was nearly full.

I cut the aluminum-foil seal on the jug about 80 percent of the way around, leaving it attached across from the handle, then folded up both sides to narrow the stream. It worked beautifully, and I could see when it was time to stop pouring.

ENTERTAINMENT

■ Worried he might lose some of his singing ability, Keith Urban actually emerged from his surgery to remove a polyp and a nodule from his vocal cords with benefits he never imagined.

"I think if a footballer in their 40s was given their knees back like they were in their early 20s, that's kind of how I feel right now," Urban said. "It's an extraordinary feeling of freedom."

Thousands of fans will get to hear the results for themselves when the Australian country music star takes the stage during the All For The Hall benefit Tuesday at the Bridgestone Arena in Nashville. It's one of the handful of times Urban has sung in public since his surgery late last year.

Urban said he had issues with his vocal cords for years, but they were never serious enough to address. When a polyp developed, though, he began to have troubles with his voice. He had to push hard to reach the notes he used to hit even just a few years ago and he began to lose his falsetto, a key ingredient in his best songs.

All that changed almost immediately after the surgery and Urban has been working with a vocal coach to strengthen his voice.

IN THE STARS

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: Make change happen. Don't wait for someone else to instigate what happens next. Be the one to step up and make a bold statement. Not everyone will agree, but unless you make waves, you'll be a yes man. Get rid of what isn't working for you anymore and you will have time to present and promote new ventures. Your numbers are 5, 11, 20, 24, 27, 35, 46.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Turn your talents into a moneymaking commodity. A couple of alterations to the way you present what you have to offer is all it will take. Love and romance are in the stars, and emotional matters can be successfully addressed.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Don't promise what you cannot deliver, especially where money is involved. You are best to underestimate what you have or can offer. Uncover the facts and determine what's required for you to reach your goals before helping someone else excel.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Don't get angry, be constructive and take care of your responsibilities. Love is in the spotlight, and uncertainty will push you into a make-or-break scenario that must be addressed openly. A couple of subtle changes will help.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Don't worry about what everyone else is doing. Concentrate on what you have to accomplish and keep moving. A change in philosophy will be dependent on the people you encounter and the way you are treated by your peers.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You will excel by sticking to your budget and keeping things moderate. Don't be afraid to implement new ideas or to step into the spotlight and promote what you have to offer. You will attract both personal and professional attention.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take a wait-and-see approach. You need to play it safe if you don't want to end up being blamed or criticized. Don't make changes at home that may upset loved ones. It's important to feel out a situation before you proceed.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Explore new avenues. Learn whatever you can that will help you secure your earning power. A trip, lecture or research will be eye-opening regarding a project you want to pursue. A move will lead to better opportunities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Experience will help you make the right choice now. Don't bring emotions into a work-related matter; however, showing off your fun side will help you form better work relationships as well as gain respect and confidence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Caution must be taken while traveling and communicating. An unfortunate slip of the tongue can lead to a misunderstanding that can cost you emotionally or financially. Make alterations at home that better suit your needs and comfort.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Concentrate on helping others and finding solutions to problems you face personally. Don't try to buy your way in or out of any situation. It's best to know what and whom you are dealing with before making a commitment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Look at your personal situation and home life, and know what you want to achieve. Love is in the stars, but you must play by the rules and avoid a situation that has the potential to hurt someone. Honesty is the best policy.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Problems will surface with people who matter to you. Clear up any confusion by sticking to the truth. A change is likely to occur, but the end result will be good for you if you maintain your integrity.

Dishonesty never pays

Governments lose billions of tax dollars every year from the income of individuals and businesses, as well as from unpaid taxes. Tax evasion can take many different forms: Tax shelters, undeclared work, excessive tax planning, omitting to submit an income tax return or to declare revenue earned from investments on the stock exchange, etc.

Consequences for tax evaders

Tax evasion has major consequences for those who are caught: It can result in a criminal conviction. If they are found guilty, they could receive a heavy fine, go to prison or end up with a criminal record with all the negative repercussions this situation can result in.

Consequences for the general public

This embezzlement of public funds also has consequences for society in general.

Governments invest considerable sums of money in attempting to catch poor payers and tax evaders. This money, added to that lost every year due to tax evasion, amounts to a huge loss of revenue for governments. These losses directly affect their level of debt and influence their capacity to provide services and to finance programs in response to the needs of our society; social programs are often the first to be cut. Moreover, law-abiding individuals see their tax burden increased unfairly.

Tax evaders, as much as society in general, are affected by tax evasion. So pay what you owe now before having to pay too much at a later date.
